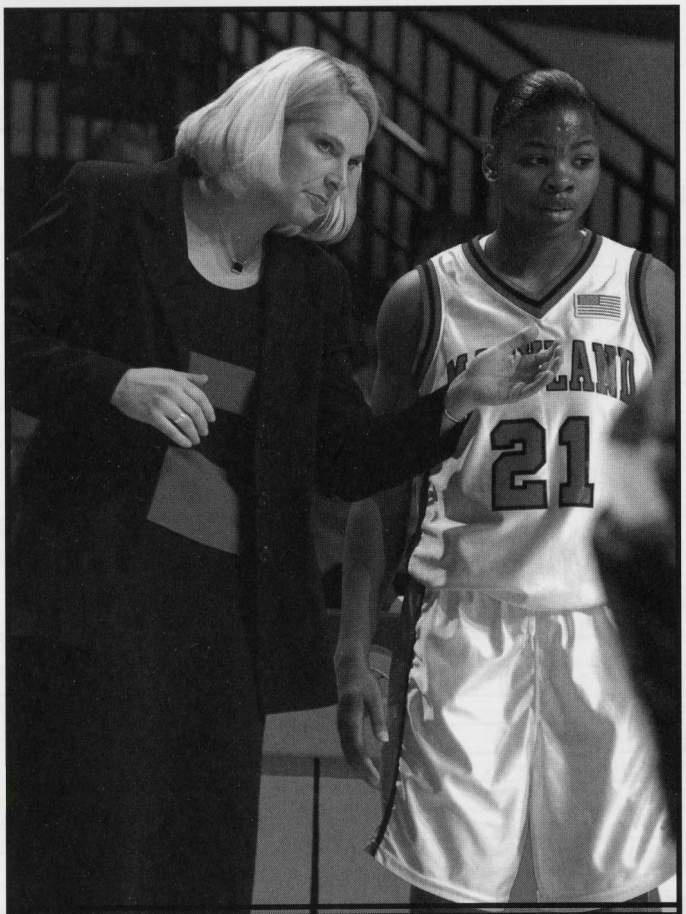
Brenda Frese

Head Coach • Arizona '93
Second Year at Maryland
Fifth Year as a Head Coach

After collecting 2002 Associated Press National Coach of the Year honors for performing her second consecutive resurrection of a Division I women's basketball program, Maryland successfully courted Iowa native Brenda Frese to the Comcast Center sidelines for the 2002-03 season. Looking forward to the prospect of breathing life back into the Terrapin program, Frese accepted the challenge.

In four seasons, Frese has accumulated a 67-48 (.583) career record, while making amazing turnarounds her calling card. People have described the 33-year-old head coach as dynamic, over-achieving, determined and enthusiastic. Her first season at the Terps' helm was the rebuilding year it was predicted to be for the team, and the energy infusion it was predicted to be for the program. With a roster short on depth but high on effort, Frese led Maryland to a 10-18 record, narrowly missing wins at several junctures. Frese's Terps also notched several positive steps in her first year including: breaking 100 points in a game for the first time since Dec. 28, 1993, winning their first ACC road game since Feb. 19, 2001, posting a crowd of 5,078 — the largest at a Maryland women's basketball game since Feb. 24, 1996, and bringing home their first win from Florida State since the 1995-96 season. The Terps' four-win conference season tied or beat the Terps' ACC mark two of the past four years and fell one win short of tying or beating it three out of the past four.

"Coming to Maryland presented the biggest challenge of my career thus far, but remains an extremely exciting and promising opportunity for my staff and I," said Frese."With Top 25 recruits joining the team this year and last year's returnees already knowing our system and how we work, we should be able to take many positive steps this season toward building this program back into a national power."



Brenda Frese with 2002-03 All-ACC Guard Renneika Razor

One of college basketball's rising stars, Frese fits with Maryland's legacy of success. At Minnesota, she earned AP National Coach of the Year honors as well as Big Ten Coach of the Year recognition for turning the Gophers' 8-20 program into a 22-8 Top 25 contender. One of the biggest one-season turnarounds in NCAA history, Minnesota set a school record with 22 wins and tied for second in the Big Ten with an 11-5 conference mark. Frese also took the Gophers to what was only the school's second NCAA appearance. The Golden Gophers were fifth-seed in the NCAA Tournament and defeated UNLV in the first round of the NCAA Tournament before being eliminated by three points in the second round by North Carolina, a team Frese will have a chance to go head-to-head with this season as part of the ACC slate.

Frese's revitalization of the Minnesota program rocked the Big Ten establishment, with her team's 10-win improvement in conference play marking the biggest one-year improvement in Big Ten history. Moreover, the 11 Big Ten wins were three more than Minnesota totaled in the previous six seasons combined. The Golden Gophers also achieved the highest ranking in school history when Minnesota was listed 14th in the Associated Press Top 25 in mid-February. The Golden Gophers were ranked 18th in the final regular season AP poll. Undoubtedly, Frese had arrived.

Frese started her head coaching career during the 1999-2000 season at Ball State, a program that had gone 66-169 in the nine seasons prior to her arrival, and guided the Cardinals to a 16-13 showing in 2000 and garnered Coach of the Year honors in the Mid-American Conference. Frese led Ball State to a school-best 19-9 mark in 2000-01, capturing the school's second back-to-back winning seasons in Ball State history. Her final year at Ball State, the 2000-01 team received votes in the AP poll, climbing as high as No. 28 in the country.

Frese's enthusiam has been contagious for the fans of her teams as well, as support increased significantly at both Minnesota and Ball State under her leadership. Buoyed by the best start (9-1) in school history, the Golden Gophers finished the season ranked 19th nationally in home attendance average (4,360), including an average of 8,828 fans during the second half of the campaign when the team moved to Williams Arena from the Sports Pavilion. The Gophers attracted the top four crowds in school history, including a record attendance of 12,142 vs. Michigan State and a crowd of 11,389 vs. Indiana. Frese's 2000-01 Ball State team posted a 10-2 home record and set a single-season home attendance record.

She launched her Division I coaching career in 1994 as an assistant coach at Kent State University, helping the Golden Flashes to records of 20-8 (1994) and 17-10 (1995) during her two years there. The Cedar Rapids, Iowa, native then joined Bill Fennelly's staff at Iowa State as the Cyclones' recruiting coordinator, where she assisted in another impressive turnaround, helping ISU to three NCAA Tournament appearances in four years. All told, the Cyclones posted a composite record of 84-38 with Frese as an assistant, including a 17-10 record in 1995-96 when Iowa State recorded the biggest one-season turnaround in school history. In 1997, the Cyclones made their first-ever appearance in the NCAA Tournament, a feat they duplicated in 1998 and 1999 with identical 25-8 records. In 1999, Iowa State was ranked among the nation's Top 25 for the entire season and came within one victory of reaching the Final Four.

During her stay at Iowa State, her 1998-99 recruiting class was ranked among the nation's top 10, and the Cyclones enjoyed tremendous success at the gate, drawing a record crowd of 12,337 vs. Santa Clara in the first round of an NCAA Tournament game played in Ames, Iowa, and rewriting Iowa State's single-season attendance mark multiple times.

Frese is a 1993 graduate of the University of Arizona, where she was a four-year forward and three-year letterwinner for the Wildcats. When injuries sidelined her during her senior season, she joined the Pima Community College coaching staff in Tucson, Ariz., as an assistant coach in charge of recruiting and scouting. Aside from her bachelor's degree in communications from Arizona in 1993, she also earned a master's degree in athletic administration from Kent State in 1995.

Erica Floyd

Assistant Coach • Ohio State '93
Second Year at Maryland
Tenth Year Overall

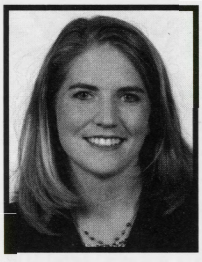
Ohio State standout and 10-year assistant coaching veteran Erica Floyd completed Brenda Frese's sideline staff when she, too, made the move from Minnesota to Maryland before the 2002-03 season with Frese. Floyd coached with Frese both at Minnesota and during her stint at Kent State.

At Minnesota, Floyd assisted not only in on- and off-campus recruiting, but also with scouting and film breakdown. The position coach for forwards and centers, she helped guide Big Ten freshman of year Janel McCarville, and also led the Gophers' community-service efforts. Minnesota experienced the biggest one-year turnaround in Big Ten history in Floyd's year there, going 22-8 after inheriting a program that had been 8-20 the previous season.

She called Cleveland State home from 1998-2001 and served the Viking program in all capacities. Floyd coached Audra Cook, 2000 Midwestern Collegiate Conference Player of the Year, while at Cleveland State and was in charge of coordinating team travel and assisting in recruiting efforts both on and off campus. She continued to lend her experience to the forwards and centers and also aided in monitoring academics, scouting and coordinating summer camps.

Her first coaching job came at Kent State from 1994-98 where she coached alongside Frese, who was an assistant at the time. A position coach for forwards and centers, she assisted with various aspects of the program including coordinating team travel, scouting and summer camps. A Kent native, she also served as the school's assistant marketing director from 1995-98. Floyd played at Ohio State from 1989-92, graduating with a bachelor of science in education in 1993. She helped the Buckeyes to a share of the 1989 Big Ten title, and as a captain her senior season was also voted most improved player. Following her senior year of high school, Floyd was named the 1988 Gatorade Ohio high school player of the year.

Floyd resides in Columbia, Md.



Joanna Bernabei

Assistant Coach • West Liberty '97
First Year at Maryland
Sixth Year Overall

Joanna Bernabei is in her first year as an women's basketball assistant coach at Maryland, after being hired this past June. Bernabei came to College Park from West Virginia to replace Brenda's sister Marsha Frese, who departed for Illinois for an assistant coaching position in her native Midwest region.

"Joanna is one of the bright, up-and-coming, young coaches in women's basketball. Her enthusiasm and work ethic are what set her apart and made her a perfect addition for our staff," commented Frese. "She will add youthful excitement and determination, necessary qualities in today's highly competitive recruiting battles. Our entire staff looks forward to having Joanna become part of the Maryland women's basketball family."

Bernabei served two years at West Virginia as an assistant coach for the Mountaineer women's basketball team. Before her time as a Mountaineer, Bernabei took a two-year tenure at Eastern Kentucky and has head-coaching experience from the 1998 season at West Virginia Wesleyan. Bernabei compiled an 18-9 record and a third-place finish in the West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (WVIAC) that year and served as the school's senior women's administrator at the time.

"I'm really excited about the opportunity to coach with this staff and be a part of this program," said Bernabei. "The vision of this staff is to stop at nothing short of a national championship and that's the kind of program I want to be a part of. Maryland is a wonderful place and I am excited to take part in its bright future."

Bernabei attended West Liberty where she was a three-time Division II All-American and a four-time first team all-WVIAC selection as a point guard. Mark Pearson

Pearson was also at Minnesota with Frese and handled team travel, scheduling practices, coordinating camps and assisting with community service. His experience before Minnesota was vast and varied, including knowledge of both the business and the coaching worlds.

Prior to joining the Gophers' athletic department, Pearson spent two years in the sales department of Reuters, Inc., in Ankeny, Iowa. 2003-04 Preseason Preview

Terps Enter Year Two Of The Frese Era At Maryland

Returning three starters from a team that is still in the rebuilding stage, second-year head coach Brenda Frese again faces a challenge for the 2003-04 season. Known for her knack at turning around Division I programs after her first two assignments at Ball State and Minnesota, Frese has dedicated herself to bringing the Terps back to national prominence as well, and the second year of her tenure promises to bring more steps in the right direction.

Gone from the roster are All-ACC pick Renneika Razor, one of Maryland's top 20 scorers and top 15 rebounders all-time, and Terri Daniels, one of the Terps' best long-range shooters in recent history.

Maryland returns Vicki Brick as the only veteran starter at the guard spot. On the verge of breaking into the top 10 for assists and already there for steals, Brick's career is back on track after being derailed before the 2000-01 season with an ACL tear. She has started 47 games in the last two seasons after returning from the injury.

The talented Baltimore native may be the only veteran Terp returning at the point, but she isn't the only player who will lend experience at that position. Alli Spence joins Maryland after a two-year stint at Old Dominion to join Brick in the backcourt. Spence, the 1999-2000 CAA Rookie of the Year, averaged 4.0 assists per game at ODU, handing out five or more assists 11 times during her sophomore season. Spence sat out last season as a redshirt. The added experience at the point has Frese optimistic about the Terps' chances in the ACC this season.

"Vicki's strengths are her work ethic, as well as her knowledge of our system, which focuses on running the court well," said Frese. "What Alli brings to that mix is another guard who can step on the court for you and know what it's like to run a team at the Division I level. How both play this year will be integral to our success."

Alexandria, Va., native Anesia Smith will also help the Terps' backcourt, returning for her third season with Maryland. Smith saw action in every game last year, averaging almost five points per game. An increased contribution from Smith would make the guard spot a solid one for the Terps.

While not veterans yet, Maryland's star guard signees, Shay Doron and Kalika France, will be counted on to make a large mark on the league this year in order for the Terps to be successful. Doron, a McDonald's All-American, and France, The Washington Post's All-Met Most Valuable Player, were the Terps' early signees this year and were among the elite two-player signing classes in the country.

"By signing Shay and Kalika this year, I think it's clear that we're going to get the kind of competitive, talented players that it takes to bring this program back to where it can be," said Frese. "We're looking for both of them to make an large impact in games and as well as with our returning team at practice to raise our level of play."

A 2003 ACC All-Rookie selection, Chrissy Fisher highlights Frese's stock of forwards for the upcoming season. After beginning the year as one of the Terps' best-kept secrets, Fisher's rookie season wasn't a secret for long in the ACC as she finished as one of the conference's best three-point shooters, hitting more than 38 percent of her shots from behind the arc.

Returning starter Delvona Oliver joins Fisher at a forward spot for a powerful combination. A versatile player who can score both inside and outside, Oliver will be in her senior season with the Terps after earning second team NJCAA All-America status at Cincinnati State. Becoming eligible just in time for the conference season last year, Oliver to added the Terps' efforts on the boards and returns as Maryland's best rebounder, averaging 5.3 rpg.

Senior Delvona Oliver

"Chrissy and Delvona were significant additions to our team last year in their first seasons," said Frese. "Both were able to step in and give us a different look for other teams to have to contain. I'm excited to see what they will be able to do this season."

A pair of sophomores, Charmaine Carr and Angel Ross, join senior Crystal Washington as the Terps' inside forces at the center position. Ross, the returning starter at center, averaged 6.0 ppg and 5.5 rpg last season, while Carr snagged most improved honors from the coaching staff for her freshman campaign after tallying 5.1 ppg and 3.6 rpg. Washington saw limited playing time last season, but could see that change for her senior season after a strong summer.

"It's going to be important for our centers and forwards to play well at all times to allow our guards more flexibility," said Frese. "Angel and Charmaine had a solid beginning to their careers last season, and with Crystal's renewed commitment, I'm looking forward to good things from this unit."

With an extremely tough schedule ahead, Frese knows the team can focus on one central goal every day at practice - increased improvement. "In a tough league with a difficult non-conference schedule, the important thing for this young team is putting the pieces together to maximize our talent," said Frese. "We are returning three starters, including one sophomore, so some significant minutes could fall to our newcomers. It's going to be important for everyone to work hard this fall to be ready from the beginning this season."

STOLEN!

Maryland's Renneika Razor led the league in steals in 2002-03, averaging 3.22 per game, beating Duke's Alana Beard. Beard, the 2002 ACC Player of the Year, averaged 2.81 steals per game. Razor earned a spot on the 2003 ACC All-Defense Team for her efforts, marking her second straight year grabbing the honor.

Razor led the competition in ACC games as well, averaging 3.13 steals per game in conference games. Razor ranked among the top 20 nationally most of the year in steals per game.

RAZOR CLIMBS ALL-TIME LISTS

GOING UP!

- The beginning of Maryland's new era in women's basketball appears to be headed in the right direction. With a 10-18 mark and a 4-12 conference record, Maryland made the following strides in 2002-03 en route to turning the corner back to national prominence.
- Maryland won the first-ever game, men's or women's, in the Terps' new home, the Comcast Center. Senior Renneika Razor scored the first basket in the Comcast Center, en route to the Terps' 80-72 win over Loyola.
- The Terps broke 100 points in a game for the first time since Dec. 28, 1993, when they downed UMES 102-31. Maryland's 104-point output was the highest since Dec. 1, 1992 vs. Drexel. That game was a 121-52 win for the Terps, and still stands as the school record for points in a game.
- Maryland won its first ACC road game since Feb. 19, 2001, when UM grabbed a 69-53 win at Wake Forest. The Terrapins held on for their first ACC road win in 10 tries. The 0-8 effort on the conference road trail was the first time in program history the Terps finished without an ACC road win.
- A crowd of 5,078, the largest at a Maryland women's basketball game since Feb. 24, 1996, was in attendance for the Maryland/NC State game on Feb. 1. The Terps won 74-72 in overtime. The last time the Terrapins hosted a home crowd that large was when 5,750 people were in attendance when No. 9 Virginia came to town.
- Maryland came home with a win from Florida State for the first time since the 1996-97 season. The 66-61 win was the first for the Terps since Jan. 15, 1997, when Maryland took home a 65-58 victory.
- Maryland's 4-12 conference record tied or beat the Terps' ACC mark two of the past four years and fell just one win short of tying or beating it three out of the past four.
